

Rockefeller Habits Checklist

Report for: HR Kathy HR-Exec
Apr 23rd 2026

Preface

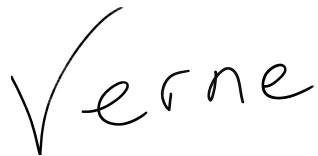

Congratulations! You are now the owner of your own personalized Rockefeller Habits Checklist report. With this report you will gain a better understanding of how well prepared you are for Scaling Up, how you and your company score for each point.

The checklist has been predominantly devised utilizing the Scaling Up / Rockefeller Habits 2.0 methodology, alongside academic growth models and organizational development theories. We have received input from many seasoned growth entrepreneurs, coaches, mentors and academics. We would highly recommend repeating this checklist annually, in order to keep track of your progress.

In the questionnaire, each item was rated on a scale from 0 to 3. The table on page 4 therefore shows values ranging from 0 up to 12, as there are four items in each habit.

On page 3 an item receives a tick when the average over the participants is above the middle.

I wish you many great insights. Enjoy the report and keep scaling!

Mastering the Rockefeller Habits

The executive team is healthy and aligned

- Team members understand each other's differences, priorities, and styles.
- The team meets frequently (weekly is best) for strategic thinking.
- The team participates in ongoing executive education (monthly recommended).
- The team is able to engage in constructive debates and members feel comfortable participating.

Reporting and analysis of customer feedback data is as frequent and accurate as financial data

- All managers have a 4Q conversation with at least one end user weekly.
- The insights from customer conversations are shared at the weekly executive team meeting.
- All employees are involved in collecting customer data.
- A mid-management team is accountable for closing the loop on all customer feedback.

Everyone is aligned with the #1 thing that needs to be accomplished this quarter to move the company forward

- The Critical Number is identified to move the company ahead this year.
- 3-5 Priorities that support the Critical Number are identified and ranked for the quarter.
- A Quarterly Theme and Celebration/Reward are announced bringing the Critical Number to life.
- Quarterly Theme/Critical Number posted for awareness of the progress each week.

Core values and core purpose are alive in the organization

- Core Values are discovered, Purpose is articulated, and both are known by all employees.
- All managers refer back to the Core Values and Purpose when giving praise or reprimands.
- HR aligns with the Core Values and Purpose (hiring, orientation, appraisal, recognition, etc.).
- Actions are identified and implemented each quarter to strengthen the Core Values and Purpose.

Communication rhythm is established and information moves through the organization accurately and quickly

- All employees are in a daily huddle that lasts less than 15 minutes.
- All teams have a weekly meeting.
- The managers meet for a day of learning, resolving big issues, and DNA transfer each month.
- Quarterly and annually, the managers meet offsite to work on the 4 Decisions.

Employees can articulate the following components of the company's strategy (BHAG, Core Customer, Brand Promise, Elevator Pitch)

- Big Hairy Audacious Goals (BHAG) - Progress is tracked and visible.
- Core Customer(s) - Their profile in 25 words or less.
- 3 Brand Promises - And the corresponding Brand Promise KPIs reported on weekly.
- Elevator Pitch - A compelling response to the question 'What does your company do?'

Every facet of the organization has a person assigned with accountability for ensuring goals are met

- The Function Accountability Chart (FACe) is completed (right people, doing the right things, right).
- Financial statements have a person assigned to each line item.
- Each process on the Process Accountability Chart (PACe) has someone accountable for them.
- Each 3-5 year Key Thrust/Capability has an expert on the Advisory Board if no internal expertise.

All employees can answer quantitatively if they have a good day or week at work.

- 1 or 2 Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) are reported on weekly for each role/person.
- Each employee has 1 Critical Number aligning with the company's Critical Number for the quarter.
- Each individual/team has 3-5 Priorities/Rocks that align with those of the company.
- All managers have a coach (or peer coach) holding them accountable to behavior changes.

Ongoing employee input is collected to identify obstacles and opportunities

- All managers have a Start/Stop/Keep conversation with at least one employee weekly.
- The insights from employee conversations are shared at the weekly executive team meeting.
- Employee input about obstacles and opportunities is being collected weekly.
- A mid-management team is accountable for closing the loop on all obstacles and opportunities.

The company's plans and performance are visible to everyone.

- A 'situation room' is established for weekly meetings (physical or virtual).
- Core Values, Purpose and Priorities are posted throughout the company.
- Scoreboards are up everywhere displaying current progress on KPIs and Critical Numbers.
- There is a system in place for tracking and managing the cascading Priorities and KPIs.
